Children's Literature and Learning: Literary Study Across the Curriculum (Language and Literacy) (Language and Literacy Series (Teachers College Pr)) ... (Teachers College Pr)) (Language & Literacy) Barbara A. Lehman

"Provides a vision for teaching literature and literacy as one, reconciling aesthetic and didactic approaches. Even better, it offers the beginnings of a road map for those who want to pursue all the richness of reading for their students." -- From the Foreword by Janet Hickman, Ohio State University

"Barbara Lehman knows good literature for students and she knows how to teach teachers to bring it alive. Her methods for teaching across the curriculum and setting up a classroom for literary learning are impeccable." -- Bernice E. Cullinan, Professor Emerita, New York University

"Clearly written and accessibleLehman's framework for literary study reflects a strong theoretical base, and provides flexibility to teachers in adapting it to their specific needs. The book includes many examples, a helpful glossary, and annotations of children's books." -- Evelyn B. Freeman, Dean and Director, Ohio State University at Mansfield

Literary study should benefit both children s pleasure and skill in reading. In this engaging book, Barbara Lehman shows how to create meaningful, intellectually stimulating programs of literary study that are developmentally appropriate for students needs, interests, and experiences (ages 5-12). Drawing on her extensive scholarship in the fields of children s literature and literacy instruction, she offers practical ideas for creating programs that accomplish curricular goals in literary ways. Featuring a usable overview of important literary theories as well as many practical teaching ideas, this book will help classroom teachers become more knowledgeable and self-assured about creating their own literature programs for children.
